

KLANG RETURNS TO CAMPUS

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8 2:30 – 4 P.M.
CAMPUS CENTER ATRIUM

The Klang String Quartet will once again be heard at NJIT in continuing celebration of musical expression on campus. “Klang” means “sound” in German, and the group distinctive for their unique blend of musical interests and influences is comprised of Kate Dillingham, cello; Kim Foster, viola; Gregor Kitzis, first violin; and Whitney LaGrange, second violin. Their performance will feature compositions by Joseph Haydn, Maurice Ravel and David Vayo.

In addition to coming together to perform as Klang, the members of the group are stellar solo artists.

Kate Dillingham is an avid proponent of the music of living composers. She has performed as a soloist with the St. Petersburg Philharmonic, Moscow Symphony Orchestra, Salzburg Chamber Philharmonic Orchestra, and Moscow Chamber Orchestra. She has appeared at Carnegie Hall, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Lincoln Center, Bargemusic and Symphony Space in New York City.

Performances by Gregor Kitzis span chamber music, Broadway shows, rock, ragtime, klezmer and tango in New York venues ranging from Carnegie, Avery Fischer and Alice Tully Halls to The Knitting Factory. A featured guest performer on TV programs such Saturday Night Live, he has shared his talent at new music and jazz festivals throughout the U.S., Canada and Europe.

A graduate of the Yale School of Music, Kim Foster is a frequent guest artist with preeminent chamber-music ensembles in New York. She also teaches at various chamber-music workshops, including Summertrios, Princeton Playweek, Summer String-In and Music, Etc.

Whitney La Grange received her bachelor of music from The Juilliard School and her master’s from the University of Illinois. She performs a wide range of music in diverse venues, including with the South Florida Symphony, and she recently played for the hit Broadway show Matilda.

NJIT welcomes attendees from all area colleges and universities.

Sponsored by the NJIT Music Initiative, Albert Dorman Honors College, Theatre Arts and Technology Program, and the Rauch Family Foundation Charitable Trust Concert Series at NJIT.

For more information: Contact Jay Kappraff, jay.m.kappraff@njit.edu or 973-596-3490